MANGO BAY BARBADOS EXPANDS OFFERINGS WITH DEBUT OF ELEMENTS SPA WHERE GUESTS CAN ‘RENEW THEIR INNER GLOW’

BARBADOS (June 18, 2007) – Embracing the trend of “pampering in paradise,” Mango Bay Barbados has debuted the brand new Elements Spa featuring an exceptional menu of skin, body and facial treatments, for travelers to indulge while on vacation.

Billed as a place where guests can “renew their inner glow,” the Elements Spa is a cozy facility with one treatment room in a delightful tropical atmosphere. The spa is owned and managed by Sarah Bowen, a graduate of the prestigious Champneys College in Tring Hertfordshire, and an all-round professional. Sarah is a member of the British Confederation of Cosmetology and Beauty Therapy and holds the coveted CIDESCO qualifications, recognized in over 33 countries around the world.

“Today’s travelers have come to expect a larger range of amenities and facilities while on vacation with a spa almost always topping the list,” said Peter Odle, owner of Mango Bay. “Adding Elements Spa was the next natural step in the resorts revitalization process, which began last year, and we’re extremely confident guests will enjoy indulging in a facial, manicure, massage or other spa treatments while staying with us,” he stated.

Elements Spa is operated under the strictest hygienic standards and offers a diverse range of beauty treatments inspired by techniques from around the world. The Phytomer line of products, derived from beneficial properties from the sea, are used during treatments. All spa services are administered by a staff of trained professionals.
